DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3, 18-21, 24-29, and 30-33, drawn to golf ball and process of making, classified in class 473, subclass 351.
- II. Claims 4-7, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 525.
- III. Claims 8-9, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 473, subclass 351.
- IV. Claims 10-13, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 264.
- V. Claims 14-15, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 264.
- VI. Claims 16-17, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 473.
- VII. Claims 22-23, drawn to golf ball product, classified in class 473, subclass 351.
- VIII. Claims 34-36, drawn to method of making a golf ball portion, classified in class 525.
- IX. Claim 37, drawn to golf equipment product, classified in class 473.
- X. Claim 38, drawn to method of making golf equipment, classified in class 525.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I does not require being vulcanized, non-ionomeric, or non-aromatic.

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case it is not require that Invention III be a full IPN.

Inventions I and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I does not require the temperature to be critical for making the golf ball.

Inventions I and V are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I is not required to have a crystallized polymer.

Inventions I and VI are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I does not require the phase size to be critical for making the golf ball.

Inventions I and VII are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I does not require the shear resistance to be critical.

Inventions I and VIII are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I does not require the reactivity to be critical for making the inveniton.

Inventions I and IX are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention IX does not require that the golf equipment be a golf ball.

Inventions I and X are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention X does not require the golf equipment to be a golf ball or that the golf equipment have a IPN.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II-X, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to John Mulgrew on September 29, 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
